PUBLIC INPUT

Theresa Stehly spoke on the Neighborhood Watch Program. In addition, she expressed concern over a citizen's question addressed to a City Council Member and asked for continued advocacy.

I.L. Wiedermann stated he received five anonymous phone calls asking him to stay out of the City's business. He addressed concerns regarding Council members changing procedures, particularly the limitation of asking two questions.

Kim Nelson spoke regarding the detention pond in her back yard in the area of 12th and Lyons. She feels there is a double standard as the City requires property owners to maintain their lawns yet is not mowing the detention ponds. Marcy Jensen also lives in the area of this naturalized area detention pond. She has similar concerns. She is worried that this will incite more wildlife and mosquitos in the area. The natural grasses aggravate her health issues. Tim Stanga said he spoke to Mark Cotter, Public Works Director, and Cotter stated the Public Works team will work on the Cliff Avenue hill. They also talked about East 10th Street and the possibility of the crews working later hours. He is disappointed regarding the two question issue.
